Student Here Proves Perseverance Wins

Mrs. Carrie Angle Bell, of King City, who is attending the College during the summer term, has proven the truth of the old adage, "Pluck and perseverance always win."

After her mother died, when Mrs. Bell was twelve years old, she kept house for her brothers and father on a farm. It is to her credit that from this time until she graduated from the eighth grade, she did not miss a day of school.

When Carrie Bell was in the seventh grade, she placed fourth in a Vitalized Agriculture notebook contest conducted by the Northwest

Missouri State Teacher's College.

This contest was open to all of the rural schools in Northwest Missouri. To enter a notebook in this contest required a great deal of work. Maps of surrounding farms were drawn, and the different kinds of soils were recorded in the project. All the details of crop rotation and farm practices were written in the notebooks submitted.

Carrie Bell did not give up after her first effort. The next year she spent all of the time she could spare from her housework and regular studies, working on her notebook.

As a reward for her effort, she placed first in the contest and received the $100. prize. The check was presented to her in the auditorium by Mr. C. J. Colden, former president of the College Board of Regents.

Mrs. Bell received much praise for the quality of her work, and her picture appeared in several newspapers and magazines. A great many articles were written about the sixteen year old girl who had won success by means of hard work.

The prize was of great value to Mrs. Bell because she was able to pay part of her expenses when she attended the high school at Stan-

While attending high school, she worked during the summer in order to earn her expenses. She worked for her board and room at the home of Mr. Jack Stapleton, present president of the Board of Regents.

After she graduated from high school, she attended the summer term of the College. The following winter she taught West Sager, a rural school near Stanberry.

She was married to Mr. Verne Bell at that time, and did not return to the teaching profession until four years later.

She has taught two years at the Buckley school, southeast of Stanberry, and one year at Higginsville.

While in college, Mrs. Bell has been a member of the orchestra and chorus. She has also played the clarinet in the Stanberry and King City bands.

Mrs. Bell is taking correspondence and extension work, and plans to attend the College during summer sessions until she receives her degree in primary education.

S. T. C. CELEBRATES A BIRTHDAY

This week this College is celebrating its thirty-first anniversary of existence. From the time of its beginning in the summer of 1906 the institution has been preparing young people of this section of the country for one of the most noble and revered professions, that of teaching.

No large, modern administration building was available to College students when the institution began in the old Maryville Seminary, but with the growth of the College, modern conveniences have been added to keep abreast of the times.

The College has offered increased services to Northwest Missouri and to this entire section of the nation each year of its existence. Not only has it been of incomparable value to young people in training them to teach, but it has also offered the Bachelor of Arts degree for persons who want to go into other lines of work.

Too much credit cannot be given those who fought the rather difficult battle to establish the College, and to those who have been at the head of administrative matters since the institution's founding. The Lemon bill, introduced in the state legislature by J. H. Lemon, a representative at that time from Nodaway county, went through many trials before it finally was enacted and the College was established.

The College will continue to serve the youth of this and surrounding states.

SUMMER COMES IN

Creeping about on all fours looking for an editorial, we thought it wouldn't hurt to say a few kindly words about Summer. According to Chaucer, Summer is icumen in, and just about time too. Back there in March it hardly seemed possible. Fresh cherry pie is also icumen in. One more week and the cherries, now reddening in the nicest way imaginable, will be entirely ripe, and, if the birds don't beat us to it, we'll get ours. Then ho, for the life of a pie-eater. Yo ho ho and a pitcher of iced tea

Corn on the cob is also icumen in. (Stop us if you've heard this one). Corn on the cob, fresh, milky, steaming with salt and lots of butter, but lots of it, Moddom. If we had to choose between corn on the cob and cherry pie, that is, definitely take one charmer or the other, well, we just don't know what we'd do. Probably settle for gooseberry cobbler.

Speaking of gooseberries, the tomato is ripening on the vine, the cucumbers are up, the string beans are blooming, and raspberries and blackberries are peering shyly around that corner. Strawberry short cake too has its finer points, and for a couple of weeks now we have been biting ravenously into tender young onions and crisp radishes and leafy lettuce, cool and fresh as a brook.

Well, sir, Summer is our season. A breakfast of canteloupe, hot biscuits and strawberry preserves, crisp bacon, and post dated coffee (buy it in the bag), and we can somehow carry on till lunch, with cold sliced ham, iced tea with fresh lime and sprigs of mint, sliced tomatoes, and raspberries with thick clotted cream. Then only a few hours, somehow to be gotten through with, and it's time for more of the same.

Just once again, if you'll pardon us. Summer is icumen in. We forgot to mention that Summer is also a time of roses and syringa, of frogs singing in the creek, of nights loud-sounding with stars. But of course everybody knows that. There's no use going soft about it.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Twenty years ago this week, the College campus—then the State Normal school campus—was abustle with talk of the Great War which was then in progress on the European continent and in which the United States had entered just two short months previously. The reason for the verbal propaganda was the fact that the new selective draft law had just been put in force—twenty years ago last Saturday—and that law would "catch" many of the State Normal's "favorite sons."

Many citizens of this country who were enrolled in the College at that time will never forget the stirring times during June, 1917. Anxiety and sorrow were prevalent in the personalities of youthful coeds on this campus as they bid farewell to their sweethearts who were being taken by the newly enacted act of the government. Anxiety, fear and sorrow were also found, and to a greater extent, in the parents of the boys who were being sent to army camps in this country preparatory to being sent "over there." No doubt alumni of the College who were in school at that time could relate many stories of those days when America was about to give many lives in a war to safeguard democracy.

It is difficult to speculate as to just what the reaction on this campus would be today if a similar situation should present itself. Many students have expressed the belief that under no conditions would they take up arms to cross the seas and fight in a foreign country, but that if this country were in danger of invasion, they would be among the first to enlist. This is indeed a noble thought and it is hoped that, in case of a future conflict, those students will hold to those vows.

Propaganda is, nevertheless, a powerful instrument of persuasion, especially in times of international strife. Flying colors, marching bands, beautiful women selling kisses for signatures on a dotted line, atrocity stories—all offer no mean attractions to young men who have been keyed to a high pitch with stories of the honor and glory of fighting their countries across the seas.

Let us hope and pray that if another war is inevitable, the youth of this land will not find itself in the same predicament that it found itself in twenty years ago and will be capable of resisting the propaganda which will also be inevitable.

THE FASTEST MAN IN MISSOURI

During the past year, this newspaper has constantly referred to one of the College men as the fastest in the state, and in several instances, sports scribes have questioned our right to that claim. Since the Missouri Valley A. A. U. meet in Kansas City last Saturday, we doubt if any newspaper writer would be justified in denying our claim.

Herschel Neil, the man to whom we referred in the preceding paragraph, was the most outstanding performer at the Kansas City meet, June 5, setting two new records, one in the 100-meter dash, and another in the 200-meter dash. He also won first place in the hop, step and jump event and second in the broad jump. On top of all of the other places of honor which this Bearcat has secured, including a chance to participate in the Olympic try-out held last summer in New York City and there lacking only about one-half inch of making the trip to Berlin, we feel that we rightly claim the "fastest man in Missouri."

All of which contributes to our belief in the story "Hersch" tells of when he was a kid back in Grandview and chased rabbits for his father for dinner. We congratulate you, Hersch!

Colbert of the Mathematics department, as he talked about his thirty years of service in the College to a Missourian reporter. Mr. Colbert is not only the oldest member of the present faculty, but is the only one of the original faculty.

He began his career of teaching mathematics in 1906 in the old high school building, and later in the old Methodist Seminary building on First street. Because the buildings could accommodate but about 200 to 250 students, class rooms were rented down town.

Miss Hettie Anthony, head of the home economics department, had classes down town over a store. Miss Anthony came to the College three years later than Mr. Colbert.

The training school occupied a basement of a business building downtown, which is now razed. Art classes also met there.

"The basketball court, in a basement downtown, was small and quite unlike the one of today," Mr. Colbert said. Later an athletic field was built behind the administration building.

To the left of the nursery was an old wooden building which served as the first agriculture department. It was located just over the lake that is on the campus now. Both classes and experiments were held there. Later when the new building was used the old "ag" building was moved to the location of the manual training building and used as a tool shed.

When the College first began it offered only two years work. Twelve members were on the faculty and Mr. Frank Deerwester was president. Mr. Colbert said, "I have kept all of my class books," and, indeed, it does not take him long to find a certain faculty member or student's name between the years of 1906 and 1937. "Yesterday Miss Kate O'Brien called," Mr. Colbert said, "I remember that she was in an algebra class which had sixty-five students, nearly all of which were working for approved grades."

Mr. Colbert recalled how the war drained the College of all able-bodied men and how all girls eligible to teach filled their teaching positions.

He smiled as he told about the "horse and buggy days," and their shelter provisions. He remembers that Residence Hall was built fifteen years ago under President Lamkin's supervision.

"Oh yes," he said, "I must tell about Mike." Mike was known as the campus dog. He came as a tramp dog and was befriended by the President's secretary. For some unknown reason, he became a privileged character, and not only was he allowed in the halls, but he went to classes, too. One day he went so far as to try the comfort of the President's office chair. Despite the fact the President wished to use the chair, Mike was not disturbed. As everything has an end, so did Mike. His death was caused by drinking arsenic spray poisoning. Mr. Colbert said, "He must have thought it was milk." A box was put up for pennies and a monument was bought for Mike. Today the monument is on the left hand side of the road going south from the east entrance of the building.

Mr. Colbert said that the biggest change between 1906 and 1937 is in the curriculum and general purpose of the College. "There have been a lot of hardships, but it has been an interesting life."

College Names Ryland Milner Football Coach

Former Bearcat Star Has Enviably Record As Mentor At Jackson High School

DAVIS IS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Ryland Milner, ace quarterback of "Lefty" Davis' championship football team of 1931, will be the new head football coach at this school next fall. His appointment to succeed Mr. Davis was formally announced by Pres. Lamkin last Saturday. Mr. Davis will become athletic director.

Mr. Milner has resigned his position as coach at Jackson, Mo., where his football and basketball teams have made an enviable record.

He will be the second alumnus on the College coaching staff, joining Wilbur Stalcup, with whom he played while an undergraduate here.

The addition of Mr. Milner will allow the Physical Education department to carry on a more intensified program, devoting more time to theory and intramural sports. Baseball will be resumed with Milner at the helm.

Coach Lefty Davis, who has been coaching for twenty-two years, will be in charge of the physical education plant as a whole. Milner will run the football and baseball teams, assisted by Stalcup. He will in turn assist Stalcup in basketball.

A most significant fact is that both the young coaches got their first experience at Jackson. Milner's teams, while he was there, were among the top ranking in the state. His football teams in four years won 32, lost 5, and tied 2. His basketball teams went to the state tourney three of the four years he coached them.

Coach Milner is well qualified to take over the job he has been assigned. While in Maryville he won twelve varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. He was the best passer and one of the most heady field generals ever to wear a Bearcat uniform. He was on the basketball club that went to the national tournament finals.

Mr. Milner is married to the former Miss Loretta Gooden, a former student of the College. He is enrolled, with Mr. Davis, for work in physical education in Louisiana State University for the summer.

ANNOUNCE MUSIC REHEARSAL HOURS

The music department announces that those who would like to play in the College band should report at 11:35 a. m. Wednesday in the auditorium.

Those interested in playing in the orchestra meet Tuesday and Friday in the auditorium at 11:35 a. m., and chorus people meet at the same place at 11:35 o'clock Monday and Thursday mornings.

The music department will sponsor an a cappella choir this summer under the direction of Miss Constance Johnson and assisted by Miss Marian Kerr, accompanist. Miss Johnson will receive students for try-outs and those interested are asked to see her immediately.

Practice for the choir will be held, Monday and Thursday at 5:00 p. m. No credit is given for this activity.

WRITERS CLUB HOLDS FIRST SUMMER MEETING

Summer students interested in writing met at the home of Miss Mattie M. Dykes, Monday evening, to organize a Writers Club for the summer term.

A few manuscripts were read and discussed, and plans were made to hold regular meetings at Miss Dykes' apartment each Monday evening.

Each member is asked to bring an unsigned manuscript of an original writing to the meeting. The manuscripts will be read and criticized. A more constructive and unreserved criticism can be made if the manuscripts are not signed.

Those present at the meeting were Miss Amelia Madera, Mr. Dwight Dorrough, and Mr. W. M. Howie, members of the English faculty for the summer, and Helen Cramer, Eleanor and Elsie Calfee, and Alex Sawyer.

Anyone attending the college who is interested in creative writing is invited to attend the meetings at 7:30 o'clock Monday evenings at the home of Miss Mattie M. Dykes, 611 North Buchanan.

Musical Department Presents Program

The assembly program Wednesday morning was under the direction of the faculty of the conservatory of music.

Mr. LaVerne E. Irvine, director of the conservatory, presented Miss Alline Fentress, violinist, Miss Marian J. Kerr, pianist, and Miss Constance P. Johnson, soprano.

Miss Fentress, accompanied by Miss Kerr, played the violin solos, the "Ave Maria" by Schubert-Wilhelmj, "Rondo" by Sorantin, and "Perpetuum Mobile," by Van Goens. Miss Kerr played the "Impromptu" by Schubert, and "Toccata" by Sgambati.

Miss Johnson, accompanied by Miss Kerr, sang "Alleluia" by O'Conner-Morris, "A Memory" by Ganz, "To Daisies" by Quilter, "May Day Carol" by Taylor, "Come Hither Lyttel Child" by Spaulding, and "Heffle Cookoo Fair" by Shaw.

Neil Leads Bearcats To Third Place In A. A. U. Meet

Maryville Star Scores 18 of Team's 21 Points; Sets Two New Records

Led by Herschel Neil, Maryville's pride and joy on the cinder path, the College Bearcats won third place in the sixth annual Missouri Valley A. A. U. track and field meet held last Saturday in Kansas City on the Southwest high school field.

The Maryville star set two of the eleven new records in the meet, winning first in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes and in the hop, step and jump event. He also placed second in the broad jump.

Vernon (Bud) Green, another Maryville star, placed third in the 110-meter high hurdles, being defeated by Sumner and Caldwell of the Emporia and Pittsburg teachers, respectively.

Walter Rulon added another Bearcat point by placing fourth in the javelin.

Neil won 18 of the Bearcat's 21 points in the meet. Pittsburg Teachers won first place in the meet with 40 points, Kansas State college of Manhattan was second with 36 points, and Maryville was third with 21 points.

Ranking below Maryville in number of points, in order, were: Emporia Teachers, Kansas university, Northeast high school of Kansas City (unattached), Ottawa university, Louisburg, Kas., high school, Springfield Teachers, Central high school, St. Joseph, Sumner high school, Kansas City Kas., Missouri university and William Jewell college.

Neil, by far the outstanding performer of the day, registered new marks in setting a record in the 100 and 200-meter dashes. His new mark in the 100-meter dash was :10.5, bettering his old record of :10.6.

In the 200-meter dash, Neil covered the course in :20.9, bettering the record set by Dunn of Pittsburg, Kas., Teachers in 1935 of :21. 2. Neil also won first in the hop, step and jump, covering a distance of 47 feet, 4 inches. In the broad jump, the Maryville star placed second, being defeated by King, of Pittsburg Teachers.

Dunn, dusky star of Pittsburg, Kas., Teachers, following Neil to the finish line, won second in both the 100 and 200-meter dashes. McAlpine, Emporia, was second in the hop, step and jump event.

SPORT BRIEFS

By GLENN ROUSE

New York teams, the Yankees and the Giants, of the American and National leagues respectively are staying up around the top in their own circuits. With the Pittsburgh Pirates slipping badly, and the St. Louis Cardinals barely hanging on to the first division, it isn't so hard to imagine seeing another subway world series—via radio!

The right-handed pitching ace of the St. Louis Cardinals, Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, after being reinstated by the National league president, Ford Frick, following a suspension that came as a result of Dean's uncomplimentary remarks regarding National league officials, complained of a sore arm before pitching a six hit 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. The newspaper men were quick to crack that it must have been his left arm, but it isn't hard to suggest that it's what rests on Dean's shoulders and not what dangles from them, that causes most of his troubles.

EMBERS "GLOWER" AT UNIVERSITY OF OKLA.

NORMAN, OKLA.—(ACP)—Strange bits of knowledge that drifted in on English final exams given to freshmen at the University of Oklahoma added to the general education of paper-correctors.

They learned that a church has "spirals" and that celibacy is a "weakness of the mind."

A Spenserian stanza was defined as "eight lines of iambic pentameter followed by an Australian with six feet."

And embers "glowered from the hearth" on one novel paper.

"The average student emerges with unity, coherence and emphasis twisted into a double bow-knot under his chin and a mixed metaphor in his pocket," sighed Instructor Lucile Searcy.

Finding it easier to swallow his pride than an unchewed steak, the fellow who lost his false teeth at the Yale University prom finally answered the ad run by the dance committee and called for his plates.

ed Maryville and announced the tender on the part of Maryville and Nodaway county of eighty-six acres of land and $58,000 in cash.

In a short time a board of regents was appointed, which met in Maryville on September 12 and effected an organization. Members of the first board of regents were Charles J. Colden, Maryville; I. R. Williams, Savannah; A. H. Vandivert, Bethany; William F. Ranken, Tarkio; James C. Tracy, Mound City; W. D. Rusk, St. Joseph; and William T. Carrington, state superintendent of schools, Jefferson City, ex-officio member.

At a meeting of the board of regents in St. Joseph, January 4, 1906, Frank Deerwester of the State Normal school at Warrensburg, was chosen president of the institution. Members of the faculty were selected March 13, 1906.

Before classes were started on June 13, 1906, an assembly of students was held at the First Methodist church. This was the dedicatory service and the following was the program: hymn; reading of the 117th Psalm by Rev. A. C. Johnson, pastor of the M. E. Church, South; and a talk by the first president.

Classes were in session between the hours of 7:30 and 12:35 each morning, and there were no afternoon classes. Assembly, or chapel, was held each day at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. George H. Colbert, chairman of the present department of mathematics, was a member of the first faculty.

Other members of the first faculty included: J. A. Whiteford, lecturer on pedagogy; Eudora Mather, supervisor of training school; Thomas B. Ford, instructor in English literature and pedagogy; W. W. Gallagher, instructor in rhetoric and pedagogy; Bennett Meriman Stigal, instructor in civics and Latin; Alpha Clements, instructor in elementary work; and Martha B. Clarke, librarian.

The enrollment for the first nine weeks session was 273. Elza Munn was the first student to enroll in the Normal. In August, 1906, the first graduating class of the College received diplomas entitling them to state certificates for teaching. There were forty-eight such diplomas issued.

Thirty years ago, students who came to the sessions were required by a state statute to sign the following pledge:

"I hereby declare that it is my intention to follow the business of teaching in the public schools of this State, and that I voluntarily enroll myself as a student in the State Normal School at Maryville for the purpose of preparing myself for that work."

sent instructor in the social science department, became a member of the faculty. The new administration building was completed in 1910, and Dr. H. K. Taylor became president.

Mr. Ira Richardson was elected president of the College in 1913 and served until 1921 when President Uel W. Lamkin became head of the institution. President Lamkin has served longer than the total of the terms of all former presidents of the College.

During the administration of Mr. Richardson, in 1919, the state legislature passed a law changing the name from State Normal School to the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College. At this time it became possible for the school to grant the degree of B. S. in Education.

Since 1919 the school has developed rapidly. Appropriations for a women's dormitory were made by the State Legislature in 1921. New buildings have been erected during the years and the institution has continued to grow in number of students, courses and faculty members.

College Musicians Entertain Rotarians

As a part of its program the Maryville Rotary club Wednesday presented musical talent from the College. Robert Curfman, William Graves, Clement Williamson and Charlotte Ann Bennett composed a violin quartet, with Helen Gaugh as accompanist. This was the first appearance of the quartet, which is under the direction of Miss Alline Fentress.

Clement Williamson sang a tenor solo on the program, and Helen Gaugh played a piano solo.

Congratulations— to the State Teachers College on this Thirty-first Birthday

America's great humorist, Will Rogers --- Indian blood in his veins --- speaking of America's first settlers, said his ancestors didn't come over in the Mayflower, but they met the Pilgrim fathers at Plymouth Rock.

WHEN THE STATE LOCATED THE COLLEGE IN MARYVILLE THE MARYVILLE ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER CO. WAS ONE OF THE OLD SETTLERS and had its part in welcoming the new educational institution. The sincere welcome then first extended has developed into thousands of warm friendships between this company and the members of faculty and the hosts of students who have come and gone with the years.

DURING ALL OF THE THIRTY-ONE YEARS OF COLLEGE LIFE IN MARYVILLE, this company has done its full part in the "home town" task of bringing the maximum of comfort to teachers and students. We have provided the College buildings and the homes where faculty and students live with dependable light and power at reasonable cost—and so have done our bit in the development of the cultural program for which the College stands. And we have grown with the College through these years and have added new services and new facilities to meet new needs. We hope to go along with the College through the oncoming years and to continue to give and to receive benefits to our mutual advantage.
